These are basic, introductory clinics, designed for riders who want to try our sport! They may ride competitively in another discipline, or have never competed at all. Clinics are being offered 4 times throughout the year, in conjunction with our regular Spring Series clinics and with the help of several great BC Coaches. All the clinics will follow the same basic format, to ensure that people trying our sport for the first time get a solid and positive introduction. Participants will also get an information package to take away, to help them continue in our sport. Spring Series clinics are organized, and listed below. We have a great lineup of clinicians, and look forward to seeing you all there!
